

SAMUEL MILLIKEN
THE NEWPORT
SIXTEENTH AND SPRUCE
PHILADELPHIA

Jan'y. 28, 1918

Dear Mr. Mackendrick,

I have yours of 27th, with the Defe<sup>e</sup> paper. It is probable that I shall not use the articles in the ye_ar book; they have grown too long and many. In the year book I shall probably have a list of reformers who may properly be called s.t. men-- one tax men, giving a very few facts and a quotation; then using the longer article in some other vehicle, perhaps The Public, if it would consider the matter. I have much interesting matter. I return the clipping from Land Values, as I had already put it aside for use. I have been getting two copies of L.V. for many years; it is a worthy journal.

Yes, keep Yarranton in mind; his description of an efficient German fire department (Dresden) as compared with an inefficient London department is simply delightful. There are two copies of the book in Philadelphia libraries.

If you are not acquainted with Turgot, let me advise you to read Say's "Turgot." He is an inspiring character. With thanks for your kindness, I remain

Truly yours,

Samuel Milliken